

5 REASONS TO BUILD CHANGE CAPABILITY with Prosci eLearning

Prosci eLearning is an easy, cost-effective way for you to quickly disseminate the nuts and bolts of Prosci's structured approach to change management to those who lead or are impacted by change.

Prosci eLearning...

Consists of four, 45-minute, online interactive training modules that employees across your organization can access anywhere, anytime, from any device:

Introduction to Change Management

Introduction to ADKAR

Introduction to Leading Change

Thriving Through Change

The benefits to Prosci eLearning are far reaching

1 Support Project Results

Use eLearning to engage the roles necessary for project success. Deploy eLearning in line with a specific must-win project, to better tie your project management efforts to change management, driving better project outcomes.

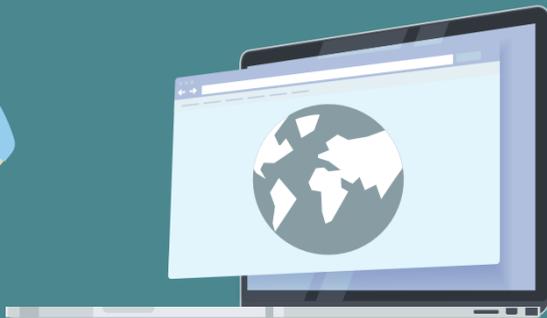

The #1 thing practitioners would do differently on their next project is involving change management earlier.*

2 Introduce Common Language Around Change

Generate a consistent language about change and the individual change process. Create alignment around what change is in your organization and how it aligns with the ADKAR® Model.

3 Drive Change at Scale

Provide individuals around the globe anywhere, anytime access to change management education. Equip change agents with skills today while bridging the gap to formal classroom training in the future.

4 Engage Managers in the Change Process

Only 34% of our study participants say they adequately prepared managers and supervisors for their roles in change.*

5 Empower Employees in Times of Change

Employee engagement is vital to change success. Provide employees across your organization with the knowledge, tools and skills to lead themselves through and actively participate in change.

Managers are top contributors to change success. Engage managers in the change process, priming them for their roles in change management. Stay ahead of potential resistance in this commonly resistant group.

With Prosci eLearning, you can build and accelerate your organizational change capability...virtually.
